NEAR-NEWS AND CHATTER FOR SATURDAY NIGHT

The lady first correctly guessing the identity of the person of whom the following is a character sketch, and winning a copy of this paper to the office, a cash prize of $1.00 will be given. The subject of the sketch is a prominent citizen of La Crosse, after winning one prize, a contestant will not be eligible to again compete a period of three months.

He is a towering figure among our local potentates and princes, and to us he is only prince. He is so tall—and he weighs a ton—that we may figure him at what the weights-and-measures expert calls a "lons ton." He's dark, and there is a gleam in his eye, and he is a man of ironical moods as pronounced as the curl of his hair, which is as curly as it is black, and black as a red-eyed bass. He is a Walloonian wonder—the pike eat of his hand. He's a gaseous cliche when it comes to acting commissary of a stag party, and he can top his own ner off with a horse-sense after-speech the fluency and wisdom of which may be accelerated by adjuvant application of the bungler. When it comes to hiking, he is in fact, the man who is king in his kind, and when he madders his fish rod and says, "se down," they all begin falling the wayside. On a hot day he can be the high ones look like dew drops in an August sun. He's a man of a mechanic, and one and operator. He passes as a live, but now that the ice floes are being and the festive crappie is being inaccessible winter quarters, might as well be dead. All he can talk about it, and we have the gle consolation that with each ing of the tale last summer's whopper will grow until the fish comes as big a whopper as the 7.

"I would not have the horse I drive so fast that folks must stop and stare. An easy gait—two-f-o-r-y-five—Suits me; I do not care. Perhaps, for just a single spurt, some seconds less would do no hurt."

Not less conscious of his own estrian prowess than this rhyme, Ollie Holmes, was our good and Bert Bleekman, as he sat one chanting the deeds of his ancestral Centaurs who gave Washington his "Headless Horseman," rode unafraid at the flank of dashing Custer. Horse-wisely he dour upon singlefoot and rack, trot and lope, until the cadence his talk assumed hoof-beat time the nag of narrative rushed my-flanked into the wee smalls. Then Joe Kidder yawned and ted for the hay. At the door he ed. "Let's get that pair of

U. S. COTTON REPORT
WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—A special report issued today by the bureau shows that on October 6, 956,583 bales of the 1913 had been gined, compared with 1,206 bales last year and 7,758 bales in 1911. Round bales in today's report were 49, and Sea Island 30,880 bales.

Hodge's and take a canter into the country tomorrow afternoon," he suggested.

"I gotcha!" said Bert.

"I grabbed the western saddle with a big pommel," said Joe, describing the start. "I mounted, and looking over my shoulder saw a raw-boned mount on either side of which stood a stable attendant playing ante-over, Bert impersonating the ball. Not gold, or base—regular medicine ball, believe me.

"But at last they got Bleek balanced on the cob, and I'll swear I had to take off my hat to him. He sat his charger with all the aristocratic dignity of a Holland corporal—chin up, chest out with a 'pin-decorations-heres' suggestion.

"Then we started. Bleek wanted to walk 'em to the city limits. He said it would be 'more dignified.' It would, as it happened. I was feeling my oats, and so was my horse, so when I gave him a secret dig in the ribs he bolted.

"We flew, but not alone. From behind I heard wildly pounding hoofs while through the startled air, 'in accents disconsolate' came a wail for help.

"Stop 'im! Hey—stop 'im!" "I reined in and looking back beheld a wonderful spectacle. 'Lo, Bleekman's pomp of yesterday was one with Nineveh and Tyre.' Our Holland corporal had become a Dutch windmill; his legs pulsed from the heaving flank at wide angles, stretching away like pennants behind the racing steed to which our hero was attached by the lusty grip of his stalwart neck. Paul Revere, Sheridan, Emily Gieger—sainted ghosts and equestrian statues, there was SOME ride!"

Well, a hero was wanted, and Joe arose to the occasion. Ask him. He caught that bolting charger, and when Bert had again located his center of gravity, the latter explained. His shoes were of the toothpick general trend, and he couldn't get a toe hold in the stirrups. They slipped out at a sober walk. So Bleek took off his shoes and tied them to the saddle straps.

"It's easier to ride barefoot than bareback," he observed ruefully.

Just the same, it became awkward when, as ever and anon they passed some wayside inn, Bleek had to remain upon his mount while sundry refreshments were brought to him. Confined to his horse, as it were, and it was more awkward when it dawned upon him that he must choose between the alternatives of staying in the country until after dark or riding through the city streets in daylight, in stocking feet.

Bert chose the former, and when darkness had fallen Joe suggested that, as they were over-due, they take a run in.

"Can you stand the pace?" asked Joe, solicitously.

"Sure," said the lawyer. "The source of whatever emotions this plug might arouse has been in a comatose condition for hours. If Nero had owned this animated rail fence he never would have had his enemies broken upon the wheel. Hip-tee-dee."

GRUESOME TASK TO RECOVER CORPSES

All of 263 Killed in Stag Canyon Explosion Will Be Brought Out by Tomorrow

NO CHANCE FOR ANY TO LIVE

Mine Totally Wrecked and Filled with Mangled and Distorted Bodies

DAWSON, N. M., Oct. 25.—The last of the dead in Stag Canyon mine No. 2 will have been recovered by tomorrow. Seventy-two bodies were recovered up to 8:30 a. m. today.

It was in entry 8 that the explosion occurred. All but six of the bodies so far brought up have been identified. The six were mangled and charred and most of their clothing destroyed. The recovered bodies include those of James Laird and Billy Reysen.

Check the Fire.
The checking of the fire in shaft No. 3 which was spreading into the No. 2 workings today assisted materially in clearing the No. 2 passages.

The latest estimates of the dead made by mine officials is 263. They base the estimate on the belief that 289 miners were in the workings at the time of the explosion.

Joseph Smith, former superintendent of the mine, declares that there is no chance that any of the imprisoned miners is alive. The mine is entirely wrecked and nothing but corpses have been found in the western workings where it was hoped living men could be located.

Manuel Popamanois and Otto Black, heads of rescue crews, declare the sights presented in the mine are ghastly in the extreme. Corpses are everywhere, lying in contorted positions. Many have started to decay and must be handled with extreme care. In some cases heads, legs and arms had been blown off by the force of the explosion.

TO MASS SUPPORT ON CURRENCY BILL
Caucus Endorsement of the Measure May Be Used to Kill Off Vanderlip Plan

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—Caucus endorsement of the "administration" currency bill was seriously considered by senate leaders today following emphatic repudiation by President Wilson of the "government controlled central bank" plan advocated as a substitute by President Frank A. Vanderlip, of New York.

Massing of democratic support for the administration plan by a caucus "gag" rule was the extraordinary method considered to kill off the Vanderlip scheme. The president is seriously considering attending the caucus.

Privately today the president, in bitter terms denounced the Vanderlip plan as a subterfuge to prevent any currency legislation at this session.

BATTLE BETWEEN GUARDS AND MEN

Striking Colorado Miners Killed During Gun Fight at Walsenburg

HOLD OFF SENDING TROOPS

Declared No Militia Will Be Sent Until Operators Lower the Price of Coal

TRINIDAD, Col., Oct. 25.—Whether the state militia will be brought into the southern Colorado coal fields where 8,000 miners are on strike, was the question agitating strikers today following last night's battle at Walsenburg between strikers and nine guards in which two men were killed and four wounded, two probably fatally.

A crowd of mine guards was moving the house effects of a non-union miner at Walsenburg when someone fired at them, missing. The guards fired a volley into a crowd of strikers down the street.

DENVER, Oct. 25.—Attorney General Farrar today said: "I do not know whether state troops will be utilized, but they will not go into the strike districts until the price of coal comes down and the operators sign an agreement to keep it down."

COOLNESS AVERTS PANIC
NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—A serious panic was averted by cool heads here today when a fire broke out next door to a big clothing factory, which is less than 100 feet from the disastrous Canal street fire of yesterday when three girls, three men and a boy were burned to death. Hundreds of men and women dashed for the escapes when a hysterical youth shouted fire. Firemen, seeing the panic, clambered up the hanging ladders of the escapes and stopped the rush to the windows.

FIND BODY IN LAKE.
WAUKESHA, Wis., Oct. 25.—Pewaukee villagers were horrified Friday noon to see a body floating near shore in Pewaukee lake. A rescuing party recovered it and Coroner John Schaeffle and Under-sheriff Ben Enders immediately started an investigation. No attempt was made by the rescuing party to identify the body.

WON'T FIGHT RATES
WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—All big express companies today advised the interstate commerce commission that they had decided to drop their opposition to the commission's orders radically reducing express rates over the entire country.

INSPECT GARY WORKS
CHICAGO, Oct. 25.—The American Steel Institute adjourned here at 10 o'clock this morning to go to Gary, Ind., to inspect the big steel works there. No further general conferences were to be held.

SWIFT FIRE LOSS HUGE
CHICAGO, Oct. 25.—Firemen today were still playing streams of hose on a blaze that attacked a sausage factory of Swift & Company, causing a loss estimated from $500,000 to $700,000. Thirty firemen were overcome by smoke during the night and early today.

WILSON TO SWARTHMORE
WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—Still undetermined whether he would proceed to Mobile, Ala., tonight President Wilson went to Philadelphia to the dedication ceremonies at Swarthmore college today.

NANCY WEDS AND FOOLS THE KAISER
NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—New York friends of Miss Nancy Leishman, daughter of John G. A. Leishman, former American ambassador at Berlin, were were chuckling today on the way she "slipped one over" on the German kaiser by marrying the youthful Duke of Croyl four days ahead of the announced wedding day. Private cablegrams received here said Miss Leishman and the duke were married very quietly yesterday in the Catholic church at Geneva, Switzerland.

The kaiser and the duke's relatives objected to the match.

Teller Walks Into Vault at Command to Get Money but Swings to Iron Door

CHICAGO, Oct. 25.—Two masked robbers held up the Addison State bank at Addison, Ill., twenty miles north of Chicago, at 10:30 a. m. today, shot and fatally wounded Edward Rodermund, assistant cashier, and escaped in a high powered automobile after securing only about $100.

Cashier Edward Fisher, who was threatened with death unless he produced $15,000 in "five seconds," outwitted the robbers by stepping inside the vault on the pretext that he was going after the money and then locking the heavy steel doors behind him. Poses from Addison and Wheaton are pursuing the bandits who fled toward Chicago.

Sheriff Kunn and a posse of twenty armed men from Wheaton started in pursuit of the robbers. Authorities of all towns surrounding Chicago have been notified to look for them.

FRISCO HAS QUAKE
SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Oct. 25.—Severe earthquake shocks shook San Francisco early today. No damage is reported but persons who went through the "big quake" several years ago were panic stricken.

ARGUE APPEALS OF DYNAMITERS
Will Begin in Chicago Next Wednesday According to Announcement Today

CHICAGO, Oct. 25.—Arguments on the appeals of the men convicted at Indianapolis in the dynamite conspiracy trials will begin before the United States circuit court of appeals here next Wednesday, it was announced today.

The court has allotted three days for argument, instead of the usual two hours to a side granted attorneys in appeal cases. It has not been determined whether the defense will address the court upon all the appeals at once, and then permit the government to reply, or whether the appeal in each case will be argued separately.

District Attorney Charles Miller of Indianapolis will head the counsel for the government. E. N. Zolline, chief attorney of record for the defense in the conspiracy trials, will be assisted by Chester H. Krumm of St. Louis, for the defense. Zolline is now in Washington seeking to engage Senator John Kern to argue on the appeals for the defense.

COOK FEARS LYNCHING
CHICAGO, Oct. 25.—Roy Blackburn, one of the trio held here as suspects in a triple murder and the robbery of a jewelry store at Grand Rapids, Mich., pleaded with Grand Rapids detectives today not to take him back to the scene of the crime.

"If you take me back there, I'll be lynched," cried Blackburn. "I did not do it, but those people believe I did. If I ever get out of this scrape I'll get the man who identified me."

MRS. FAIRBANKS' FUNERAL
INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Oct. 25.—The funeral of Mrs. Charles W. Fairbanks, who died yesterday of pneumonia, will be held at the residence tomorrow afternoon. A committee of seven Methodist bishops, representing the council of bishops in session today at St. Louis, will attend the services. Bishop William F. McDowell of Chicago will preach and there will be a prayer by Bishop Frank M. Bristol of Ohio.

Nine U. S. Dreadnoughts Under Way Ostensibly for Mediterranean Sea Today

EXPECT COMMAND TO REVERSE

Expect Soon to Pick Up Orders to Make Haste for Ports Along the Mexican Coast

HAMPTON ROADS, Va., Oct. 25.—Nine dreadnoughts of the Atlantic fleet, Admiral Badger commanding, steamed out to sea today after official greeting an farewell to Assistant Secretary of the Navy Roosevelt and party. The fleet started on a two months' Mediterranean cruise, but aboard every vessel here was a foreboding that orders to right-about-face would be picked up by wireless soon, sending the vessels to Mexican waters.

Assistant Secretary of the Navy Roosevelt's party steamed out in the U. S. S. Dolphin. Commanders of the Wyoming, Arkansas, Delaware, Utah, Florida, Vermont, Kansas, Connecticut and Ohio, boarded the Dolphin to pay their respects.

COOK FEARS LYNCHING
CHICAGO, Oct. 25.—Roy Blackburn, one of the trio held here as suspects in a triple murder and the robbery of a jewelry store at Grand Rapids, Mich., pleaded with Grand Rapids detectives today not to take him back to the scene of the crime.

ASK STRIKE PROBE
WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—Representative Keating of Colorado today received telegrams appealing for federal investigation of the Colorado Fuel company strike in Colorado. Union miners wired that the sheriff had made his office an "adjunct" of the company and that "respectable citizens are no longer safe in the presence of these licensed murderers."

TO HONOR BUSCH
ST. LOUIS, Mo., Oct. 25.—In thirty-five cities where the Anheuser-Busch Brewing association has branches services will be conducted between 2 and 4 o'clock today, simultaneously with the funeral of Mr. Adolphus Busch in St. Louis. Following a private service at the home, Congressman Bartholdt will deliver the funeral oration at the grave.

BRITISH WRECK FATAL
LONDON, Oct. 25.—Three persons were killed and more than a score seriously injured today in a rear end collision on the Southeastern railway at Waterloo Junction. Signals were confused because of a heavy fog and an express telescoped the three rear cars of a standing local.

NO RELIEF IS IN SIGHT FOLLOWING SUNDAY ELECTION

Huerta Will Continue as Dictator and Uncle Sam Is Getting Ready to Act

WILL ISSUE PROCLAMATION SOON

Document Defining Stand and Re-affirming Monroe Doctrine to Be Published by Wilson

WILL AID NORTHERN REBELS

Despite Fact that Huerta Adviser Is British Minister Britain Claims to Back U. S.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—A smoldering volcano is the way the Mexican situation is considered in official circles today. On the eve of tomorrow's presidential election, there was not a single individual here who believed any relief was in sight. Instead, further complications seemed unavoidable.

Huerta is confidently expected to continue in control. No single candidate is expected to receive a majority of the votes cast. Congress must, under the constitution, declare it no election. But the Huerta followers will dominate the new congress and the provisional president, continued as dictator, can do about as he pleases.

Adviser British Diplomat
It is believed here that Huerta's chief adviser is now Sir Lionel Carden, British minister to Mexico. Realizing this fully, President Wilson is expected next week to issue an official announcement of future policy, not alone for Mexico, but for the entire western hemisphere. It will reaffirm the Monroe doctrine. It will assert unequivocally that this country reserves the right to exercise exclusively the police power among its sister nations to the south.

Until after tomorrow's election, the United States will mark time in Mexico. Today it seemed almost a certainty that the president will send a personal representative to investigate the claims of the constitutionalists. If they can show that they are in control of the northern states, their "defacto" rights as belligerents probably will be recognized. Then with plenty of arms and ammunition they will be expected to carry the war direct to Huerta.

Huerta on Official Ballot
MEXICO CITY, Oct. 25.—Despite General Huerta's repeated denials that he is a candidate for president and that the votes cast for him in tomorrow's election will be void and not counted, his name appears as a presidential candidate on the official ballots sent out, with General Blanquet, minister of war for vice president.

Diaz at Vera Cruz
VERA CRUZ, Oct. 25.—General Felix Diaz today was still here, alternating his time between the German hotel and the American consulate, which are adjoining and connected by a door. It was not known when Diaz would go to Mexico City. He was in receipt of urgent requests from his adherents in the national capital to come there as soon as possible. Diaz said he would go, but his plans were kept carefully guarded.

Britain Backs U. S.
LONDON, Oct. 25.—On the best of authority from official quarters it can be stated that there is no friction between Great Britain and the United States in the matter of Mexico and there will be none if England can avoid it.

Send Italian Envoy
ROME, Oct. 25.—The government this afternoon ordered Silvio Cambiagio, Italian ambassador to Mexico, to proceed forthwith to Mexico City. What instructions regarding the Huerta situation were given Senor Cambiagio is unknown.

BALANCE OF TRADE IS FOR LA CROSSE

Parcel Post Report of Local Postoffice Shows that 2,651 More Were Sent Out Than Came In

That the "balance of trade" in the parcel post department of the local post office is in favor of La Crosse is the main feature of a report on the new service recently compiled and sent to the department heads at Washington. The report covers the period from October 1 to 15, inclusive. The report in part says:

"There were handled 13,173 parcels, a daily average of 880 pieces. There were 7924 parcels dispatched, with a total postage paid of $697.01. There was a total weight dispatched of 12,124 pounds, making an average weight for each parcel of 24 1/2 ounces, and an average postage of 9 cents. The greater number of parcels went to the third zone.

"The number of parcels received was 5273, of which 2,051 were delivered by the parcel post automobile and 2481 small parcels delivered by the letter carriers, and the balance of those received, being delivered through the general delivery window and boxes."

This shows there were 2651 parcels more sent out of La Crosse than received, a balance in trade in favor of La Crosse. The report shows that it cost about 2 1/2 cents per package to deliver by automobile, which is very reasonable considering the square miles in the city limits that have to be covered.

There is a marked increase in the number of packages handled, which shows that the merchants and people in general are waking up to the advantages of the parcel post system.

The Eau Claire post office handled a total of 6155 parcels during the same period, but their report shows they receive 769 more parcels than they sent out.

Tribute to the Dog.

Whether a dog is the best friend of man cannot be answered by me, but of all the animals which have become domesticated the dog has been shown to be the only one that never knows the difference of caste, class, wealth or habitation. The shivering, half starved dog, clinging to the wasted toiler in the humblest abode of a hungry family, will never forsake to go next door to the family that has the blue ribboned, silver belled poodle or the felt wrapped collie.—Colonel John H. COMB SAGE TEA INTO GRAY HAIR

Darkens Beautifully and Restores Its Thickness and Lustre at Once

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea, with sulphur and alcohol added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant; remove every bit of dandruff, stop scalp itching and falling hair. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use tonic, costing about 50 cents a large bottle, at drug stores, known as "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," thus avoiding a lot of fuss.

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared. After another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant and you appear years younger. For sale and recommended by O. T. Erhart.

ELKS' SHOW WILL RUN THREE NIGHTS

General Interest Aroused by Extravaganza Leads Committee to Decide on Extra Performance

The "cabaret extravaganza," under which name the annual Elks' minstrel is masquerading this year, will have a three day run, according to a decision announced by the committee last night, after watching one of the nightly rehearsals. The matter was at once taken up with Manager F. L. Koppeler of the Majestic, and he agreed to let the amateurs have the theater for the extra night. The committee heretofore announced that the extravaganza will hold the boards November 6, 7 and 8.

Interest shown by the public announcement of the show has been large, and it was this that led the committee to arrange for the extra performance. They figure that the people who want to see the show will not be able to crowd into the theatre on only two nights.

Under the capable direction of Mr. and Mrs. Holly Shepard, the performers who will take part in the annual show are rapidly rounding into professional form. Many of them are seasoned veterans of many minstrel shows, and all are settling into the collar with a will.

RUSHFORD MINN

A telegram was received Saturday telling of the sudden death at Eau Claire, Wis., of Mr. Andrew Nelson, a resident of many years ago, who after making his home in different parts of the state, about a year ago returned here and started the city laundry. He had been in the sewing machine business for many years and we understand that, after leaving here last summer he had been out upon a sewing machine repairing trip through the northern part of this state and in Wisconsin. At this writing we are unable to state the cause of death and just when and where the funeral services will be held. Mr. Nelson had not been in very good health for some years, but death will come as a shock to many who had called him friend.

Mr. and Mrs. Ambrose Johnson, who reside upon the Davis farm in South Rushford have a new little housekeeper, who arrived upon the Stork Special a day or so ago. The little maiden is at present with her mother at a La Crosse hospital and both of them are doing well.

Miss Bessie Stage, who has been teaching at Farmington, Minn., is home for a short visit with her mother, Mrs. Sarah Stage of North Rushford.

Mrs. Scott of Chicago is in our city for a visit with her mother, Mrs. Anna Ogard, and her sister, Mrs. Simon Heogh of Ferry street. Mrs. Scott was formerly Miss Carrie Ogard.

The guild of Emmanuel church met at the parish house Wednesday afternoon and a goodly throng was present. A delicious luncheon was served by Mrs. John Kahoun and Mrs. Milo Bathrick, the hostesses of the day.

We note, from a recent paragraph in the Winona Republican-Herald, that a new departure in rural school methods is soon to be tried in our neighboring county of Olmstead, namely, the introduction of moving picture machines into the rural districts as a means of aiding the growth of the social spirit and to make the educational work of each district of such a nature that the young people will be proud of the home district.

Superintendent H. S. Craig of our city schools is this week in Minneapolis, attending a session of the Minnesota Educational association. The new school house in district No. 67, Fremont township, is creating a good deal of comment and all of a very favorable character. The building will contain but one room but that room will make some of the more backward districts "sit up and take notice." All the modern improvements will be found there and as the building will cost over $2,000 it will be a model school room.

Pursuant to a new work commenced by the city school, there will be held in the adjacent rural districts meetings to discuss the relation of the city school to the country districts. The meetings which are booked so far are as follows: October 27, at district No. 160; October 29, at district No. 146; November 1, at district No. 8. The meetings will take place in the evenings as indicated and all are very cordially asked to spread the news of the work and to come out in full force.

At a meeting which was called to order at the city hall last week the first Iversen club to be formed in the state of Minnesota was placed on record. The following officers were elected: Chairman, F. A. Olson; secretary, George Julsrud; treasurer, C. C. Jensen. The committee on membership was as follows: P. Isberg, O. E. Reishus, E. Vigard, L. Foss, A. K. Hanson, Jr., E. Rowlee, O. P. Mindrum, J. E. Parish, A. L. Holle, G. Julsrud, L. P. Skaar. The committee on organization of Iversen clubs in adjoining communities is as follows: G. Julsrud, O. P. Mindrum, J. E. Parish. A number of resolutions were drafted and adopted.

It was erroneously stated in yesterday's news that the home team was beaten by the Lanesboro girls, but the reverse was true, the local girls winning by a count of 22 to 11. The news reached here yesterday of the death of Mrs. Daniel Malony at her home in Rushford, Sask., Can. Mrs. Malony passed away last Monday, after being ill for some months, but her condition was not thought serious until towards the

The Profit in Songs.

It is not always the composer, unfortunately, who reaps the golden harvest of a song's popularity. For the evergreen "Come Into the Garden, Maud," Balfie received no more than $100, for "Kathleen Mavourneen" its composer was rewarded with a five pound note, and the immensely popular "Cheer, Boys, Cheer" was sold by Henry Russell for 80 shillings. In recent years "Some Day," credited with having yielded well over $10,000, was parted with by its creator for 10 guineas.—London Chronicle.

From the Emerald Isle

Canon Hanny maintains that nowadays the most dramatic sermons are preached in Ireland, says the Daily Chronicle. A friend of his heard a preacher in a Connaught village expatiating on the terrors of hell.

"The lion will roar at ye," he told the congregation. "The owls will hoot at ye. The serpents will hiss at ye, and the hyenas will laugh ye to scorn."

LEGITIMATE STAR AT THE BIJOU

Henry E. Dixey, the famous legitimate star, one of the old favorites of the American stage, is presented by Daniel Frohman in "Chelsea 7750," an original drama of the underworld, the second famous play feature to be shown at the Bijou.

In the role of an eminent detective Mr. Dixey is afforded ample opportunity to utilize the fine powers for which he is noted. In a relentless and thrilling pursuit of a resourceful gang of counterfeiters, Mr. Dixey is provided with one of the strongest parts which in all his extended and versatile career he has ever portrayed. Startling revelations and overwhelming climaxes crowd fast in succession. Mr. Dixey is supported by Laura Sawyer, who as his daughter and a female detective assists him in his triumph over the criminals. This feature silent drama will be shown at the Bijou Monday and Tuesday, Oct. 27 and 28, with matinees both days.

ROOTERS CAUSE HORSE TO BOLT

Half a score of automobiles, loaded to the guards with rooting boys and girls parading the town before the Eau Claire-La Crosse football game this afternoon, so scared a horse pulling a milk wagon belonging to H. Nelson that he ran away, and scattered broken bottles and milk for a block along Madison street about noon today.

The accident happened while Nelson was delivering milk at a house near Thirteenth and Madison streets. The horse bolted up the boulevard on Madison street and struck a hydrant, demolishing the rig.

It is understood that a subscription will be taken up among the young people in the automobiles to repair the damage done by the runaway.

SUFFERED TWELVE YEARS CATARRH OF STOMACH

RELIEVED BY PERUNA

W. H. Shanks' Scottsburg, Ind., Home.

Most of our testimonials are old acquaintances. That is to say, we have been in correspondence with them ten or fifteen years. Mr. Shanks, however, is a new comer. He is an old friend of Peruna, but he never called our attention to the fact until very lately. We welcome him to the host of users and believers in Peruna. His appearance speaks for itself, and his letter reads:

"It affords me great pleasure to inform you of the good results I have derived from the use of your excellent remedy, Peruna. I had catarrh of the stomach and bowels for twelve years and tried many remedies with only temporary relief. I was induced to try Peruna, and after taking six bottles I was completely relieved. I had taken almost three bottles before I could see that I was receiving any benefit, but when I had taken the six bottles I was completely relieved, and I feel very grateful to Peruna, and I have recommended it to quite a number of my friends. I still take a bottle every spring. My wife has used it with good results. You can use this or any part of it if you see fit.

Mr. Shanks' story is very similar to many others. A long series of chronic catarrh. A long list of failures in trying to find a remedy. Finally a friend induces the patient to try Peruna. Sometimes the first bottle gives relief. Other times a number of bottles must be taken. This is the story that has come to us from every state in the Union, and from many of the English speaking countries scattered through the world.

If it is not true that Peruna really does relieve catarrh of the head, throat, lungs, stomach, bowels and other organs, then why do the thousands of testifiers state that they have been benefited? No one is in a better position to know than they who have used it in their sickness.

We appreciate their loyalty to their convictions. We also appreciate the gratitude which induces them to allow their names and pictures to be used for the benefit of the public.

The exact truth is all we want. That is all we publish. We could not possibly be induced to publish anything else.

Peruna is a great remedy, we believe. A standard household remedy. There are thousands, yes hundreds of thousands, of homes where it is in constant use. There are millions of other families who if they knew of Peruna and its value, would not be without a bottle in the home.

Those who object to liquid medicines can now procure Peruna Tablets.

WALTER BAKER & CO. Ltd. Established 1780 DORCHESTER, MASS.

He Taught the Kitten How to Eat.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—Patch Fed His Hungry Friends.

"ANIMALS are scarcely ever stingy," daddy said. Jack and Evelyn had been wondering if Sheppie's habit of burying the bones he could not eat did not show that he was a miser.

"All dogs do that," daddy explained. "Sheppie, however, is always willing to share his dinner with Tabby or any of the kittens, so we have no right to say he is stingy."

"Cats aren't any stingier than dogs," Evelyn protested, for was not Tabby her very own pet?

"No, indeed," daddy replied heartily. "Cats are kind and generous to one another in spite of the idea that some stupid people have that a cat is selfish."

"There was Patch, a handsome black and white cat who moved to the city from a nice home in the country."

"At first Patch wasn't very well satisfied, although he had a nice green lawn in his back yard, and his mistress at once planted some catnip for him."

"After a time Patch felt more at home and began to wander about. He got acquainted with other cats and learned the ways of town life."

"Now, Patch was a fat, well fed cat. He always had breakfast, dinner and tea; also had plenty of good food at these meals, and the food was nicely served. The meat and vegetables were placed on a little china plate, and the milk was poured into a little bowl. These were Patch's china dishes, and he knew it. If the food was served in anything else he would stand around and meow to have it put in his own dishes."

"Now in his rambles Patch met many hungry cats. Some of the poor creatures had once had nice homes, but their owners had moved away and not taken the trouble to find new ones for them or take them along. Patch thought such people must be very mean and horrid."

"Patch must have felt sorry for these cats, for often he would come home with one of the hungry creatures following him. He never stole for himself, but at such times he has been known to slip into the pantry and, picking up any food he could in his teeth, take it to a needy friend."

"One day he brought home a thin, half grown kitten. It was black and white and looked enough like Patch to be related to him. Patch's mistress took the kitten in. She fed it, and Patch washed it carefully every day until it was almost as sleek as he was. He taught the kitten to eat its food nicely out of a dish as he did instead of scattering it about over the floor as the little waif did at first."

"Cats, as a rule, do not like to have a strange cat or dog come into their homes, but Patch made the kitten very welcome. They became great friends, and it was delightful to see them racing about and playing."

WANT LARGER HOUSE

A reporter recently made a social call on the Van Dyke & Eaton Co. at the La Crosse Theater and from what he learned the only trouble this company find, they declare, is that the theater is not large enough to accommodate the crowds that come to be amused. Mr. Hastings (the leading man) said:

"We are as much surprised at a small house as some companies are at a full one."

Some of the members have been with the company for fourteen years. The reporter met all the members of the company individually and had a little talk with each.

Miss Lorena Tolson, the leading lady, said:

"Oh dear—I suppose I'll have to unfold the past once more—but don't ask me why because I am just as young as I look. I was born in Kansas City, Mo. My first part was 'Madelon,' in 'Fanchon, the Crick-et.' I was featured several seasons as 'Marguerite' in 'Faust'—but the majority of my time has been spent in permanent stock, having played extended engagements in most of the principal cities of the west."

Her Hair is Red

Miss Eunice Elliott was coming out her blonde hair as the reporter came to her dressing room. She blushed very prettily and said: "Excuse me."

"Is it natural?" she was asked. Her eyes flashed, then she smiled.

"Of course it is but it is getting dark awfully fast."

She declared she was from Louisville, Ky. She says she has played in stock because that is the best school for young people in the theatrical business. When asked what kind of parts she preferred to play she said:

"I like a part in which I can have lots of fun."

Miss Helen DeLande said it would take too long to tell of her many engagements, but that she has been with some of the greatest stars of the theatrical firmament. She was several seasons with Fanny Davenport, at one time playing her leads and sometimes playing Miss Davenport's parts when she was indisposed. Miss DeLande's first part was

"Fanny Elkton" in "Musette." She has also played with "Modjeska" and "Robson and Crane." Of late years she has devoted all her time to stock as she prefers it to so much traveling.

Miss Ethel June is a new member of the company whose bright face and sunny nature are sure to win a place for her in the hearts of La Crosse theater goers. Miss June comes from Peru, Ind., and her first part was "Mimi" in "The Devil," which she played in one of the Henry Savage companies. She is also a blonde and says she likes stock the best.

Just Out of School

Miss Ethel Milne, the capable musical director of the company, is a wee little mite, scarcely out of her teens but she makes the audience sit up and take notice that there is something doing all the time at the piano. Much of the credit received by Mr. Willard Foster for his well rendered illustrated songs is due to Miss Milne's excellent accompaniment. Miss Milne has recently finished school at Superior, Wis., where she is a popular favorite in musical circles.

Mr. Willard Foster, the genial comedian, has been with this company for ten years. He was born in Salt Lake City, Utah, and started acting at the age of fifteen, traveling through the west with several Shakespearean companies. At the age of eighteen he played "Iago" in "Othello." He originated the leading role of "Marius" in "The Holy City," was with Edmond Breese in "Monte Christo," and also played in support of Charles D. Herman in a classic repertoire. Mr. Foster is a great lover of music, and has composed a great deal of church music, much of which is being used today. He said that in spite of his varied experience, he preferred stock rather than big road attractions.

Mr. Harry Vickery is stage director. When he was six years old he ran away from his home in Boston with a circus and was gone for two years and when his father finally found him—"Well," said Mr. Vickery, "I didn't sit down for some time."

He was featured with Hi Henry's Minstrels as "The Boy Baritone" and for three seasons he was with Jack and the Bean Stalk. He was with the famous musical revue "Zephra," but finally drifted into stock work and now prefers that line to all others. This is his fourth year with the Van Dyke and Eaton company.

Sewing Buttons on Shirt
Mr. Cliff Hastings was sewing a button on a shirt when found. He said with a smile:

"This is what I get for being a bachelor."

He was born in Bristol, Eng., and ran away to sea when he was fourteen years old. He finally landed in the United States and took to the theatrical profession. His first part was played with J. K. Murray and Clara Lane in the Castle Square Stock Co. of Boston—he was two seasons with "Quincy Adams Sawyer"—also with "The Old Clothes Man" and other productions. For the last five years he has played in stock in different parts of the country.

Mr. Francis Gottschalk is German by birth as he was born in Milwaukee, Wis., and for the last eight years has worked only in German stock companies in various parts of the country. For two years he played the leading role in the production of "At Sunrise." Mr. Gottschalk also prefers stock work to all others.

Mr. W. E. LaRose, in spite of his French name is an American, being born in Monterey, Cal. His first part was "Walter West" the leading part in "The Fast Mail"—for many years he has been identified with the principle stock companies of the country and while he is a new comer with the company in La Crosse, he makes his third season with the company. He has been with such companies as the Bush Temple stock of Chicago, the Yorkville Stock of New York and the American Stock Co. of Toledo, Ohio.

ALL SEEMS SOCIALISTIC

Employees of Great Canal Have No Fear of Rent Day or of the Dreaded High Cost of Living

By WILLIS J. ABBOTT, Author of "Panama and the Canal in Picture and Prose"

Copyright, 1913, Syndicate Publishing Co., New York. All rights reserved.

Our Uncle Sam owns and manages a line of steamships plying between New York and Panama, carrying both passengers and freight, and competing successfully with several lines of foreign-built ships. The largest vessels are of ten thousand tons and would rank well with the lesser transatlantic liners. On them congressmen and Panama Zone officials are carried free, while employees of the Isthmian Canal Commission get an exceedingly low rate for themselves and their families. The government also owns and conducts the Panama railroad, which crosses in less than three hours from the Atlantic to the Pacific. This sounds like a mighty good argument for government ownership and it is not much more fallacious than some others drawn from Isthmian conditions. The president of the Panama railroad is Colonel George W. Goethals. The government caught him young, educated him at its excellent West Point school, paying him a salary while he was learning to be useful, and has been employing and paying him ever since. Like a citizen of the ideal Co-operative Commonwealth, he has never had to worry about a job. The state has always employed him and paid him. While he has done his work better than others of equal rank he has only recently begun to draw any more pay than other colonels. Sounds very socialistic, doesn't it? And he seems to make a very good railroad president, too, though the shuffling of shares in Wall Street had nothing to do with his appointment, and he hasn't got a director on his board interlocked with J. P. Morgan & Co. or the City National Bank.

The government which runs this railroad and steamship line doesn't confine its activity to big things. It will wash a shirt for one of its canal employees at about half the price that John Chinaman doing business nearby would charge, press his clothing, or it will send a man into your home—if you live in the Zone—to chloroform any stray mosquitoes lurking there and convey them away in a bottle. It will house in an electric-lighted, wire-screened tenement a Jamaican negro who at home lived in a basket-work shack, plastered with mud and thatched with palmetto leaves. It is very democratic too, this government, for it won't issue to Mrs. Highflyer more than three wicker arm-chairs even if she does entertain every day, while her neighbor, Mrs. Dums, who gets just exactly as many, never entertains at all.

We find a great central authority, buying everything imaginable in all the markets of the world, at the moment when prices are lowest—an authority big enough to snap its fingers at any trust—and selling again, without profit, to the ultimate consumers. There are no trust profits, no middleman's profits included in prices of things bought at the commissary stores. There are eighteen such stores in the Zone. The total business of the commissary stores amounts to about six million dollars annually. Everything is sold at prices materially less than it can be bought for in the United States, yet the department shows an actual profit, which is at once put back into the business. A Zone housewife told me that a steak for her family that would cost at least ninety cents in her home at Brooklyn cost her forty here. Shoddy, or merely "cheap" goods are not carried, and the United States pure food law is strictly observed. That terrible problem of the "higher cost of living" hardly presents itself to Zone dwellers except purchasers of purely native products; those, thanks to the tourists, have doubled several times in the last five years. But articles purveyed by Uncle Sam are furnished to his nephews and nieces here for about one-third less than the luckless ones must pay when they are sticking to the old homestead instead of faring forth to the tropics.

But more. The canal employee does not know what it is to fear rent day. If married he is supplied with quarters, all furnished, ranging from a four-room flat to a 16-room house, according to his importance in the canal organization. For him neither the coal baron nor the ice trust has any terrors, for the little coal he needs is furnished free by the commissary, and ice is supplied at a price to put the trust out of commission.

This is a benevolent despotism, the sort of government that philosophers agree would be ideal if the benevolence of the despot could only be assured invariably and ternally. The czar of Russia could do what is being done down here were he vested with Goethals' intolerance of bureaucracies, red-tape, parasites, grafters, disobedience and delay. But Goethals is equally intolerant of opposition, argument, even advice from below. His is the military method of personal command and personal responsibility. I don't believe he is over fond even of the council of war. In a socialistic community, where every man had a voice in the government he would last only long enough for a new election to be called. Though his popularity here is universal, it would not withstand the attacks of demagogues were there field for demagoguery here.

A good man sometimes goes to the wall, but, then, so does a good picture.

It's the better half that generally sees the worst side of a man.

MERCHANTS BAND FOR HALLOWE'EEN

North Side Business Men Form Temporary Club and Hire Cops to Foil Vandals

Retail merchants on Mill, Caledonia and Rose streets have formed an impromptu self protection society against the use of soap and wax applications to their windows and against the barbarous practices of Young America on Halloween night. The police are tickled to death, and the small boy who has been hoarding his mother's washing soap for the past several weeks is morbid.

Young America is going to be restrained on this, his night of nights. The store keeper, discouraged with vain attempts in past years to eradicate wax marks from his windows, is not going to take any chances.

Not thinking the handful of night patrolmen on the north side sufficient to the emergency, they have banded together and gone to the police with their troubles. Two patrolmen will guard the property of business men on that spooky night and Johnny and Willie and their brothers in Halloween intrigues will be uncoined. The members of the association, formed for the short time between dark and midnight, will stand expenses for the two guards of property and peace.

The rumor started this morning is gaining wide approval among all persons, especially among mothers and fathers of the boy infested north side.

Preparations that have been made by stern fathers have been abandoned. From muttered whisperings in school rooms and down cast faces, Skinny and Slim and the bunch have been beat before the fight begins.

WHOLE FAMILY NEAR GAS SMOTHERING

New Stove Burns Poorly and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Yehle and Child Are Near Death

The fact that a new hard coal stove did not burn properly, almost caused the death by asphyxiation of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Yehle and their eleven months old infant, 1431 George street yesterday morning. The fact that their bedroom door had been accidentally shut saved their lives, is the opinion of Mr. Yehle. Mr. Yehle is a son of former Patrolman Alois Yehle.

Instead of arising at the regular hour, Mr. Yehle did not get up until 7:30. Upon awakening, he says he could hardly move. Mrs. Yehle was almost unconscious. The husband managed to dress and call neighbors. Dr. George W. Lueck was called who said he considered it a miracle that the whole family escaped. The baby was affected less than its mother and father.

A new hard coal stove had been put up Thursday night. The cause of the escaping gas fumes is attributed to a defective chimney and a wrong connection of the stove pipes.

RECOVERS FROM SCALDS

Although suffering from the effects of the scalding yesterday morning of her lower limbs, the eight year old daughter of Mrs. Peter Johnson, 2040 Kane street, is recovering. The little girl was scalded by boiling water yesterday when she and Freda Eigan, with whom she was visiting attempted to fill a teapot from a large kettle.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. W. E. Brakenbush of Clifton. The bride was attended by Miss Ida Behring of Waterloo and the groom by the bride's brother, Avid. The bride has a large circle of friends and acquaintances in this city, where she has been employed for the past three years. The young couple were the recipients of many beautiful and expensive gifts by the large company that witnessed the ceremony. They will make their home at Columbus, where the groom is a prosperous young farmer.

On Saturday afternoon, Oct. 25, the last game of football for this season, will be played on the high school campus and the local highs will face the Portage aggregation. This team has been strengthened considerably and our boys are hard at work practicing and expect to beat the visitors. Before this game, however, a thirty minute prelude will be given by a team of Sophomores, who have challenged an all-class team to mortal combat. Some good play and lots of fun will make this game an interesting one.

Agents representing a New Jersey Friction Carbide Light company, have been making a successful canvass amongst our farmers. Those who expect to have this up-to-date illuminating plant installed in their homes are Messrs. Louis Fiddle, who lives two miles north of town and Adolph Zastrow, who lives south of Tomah. Others are waiting for results before placing their orders.

Druggist Beyschlag

503 Main St., said, "It is generally assumed that the Druggist charges any price for a Prescription he sees fit. That is not so. The Druggist carefully figures the cost of the ingredients, and makes the price for the Prescription accordingly. I have always followed this rule, and have therefore prepared over 200,000 Doctors' Prescriptions for my patrons here, and they are still coming. Of course I carry a very complete stock for all Doctors' Prescriptions, having devoted my main time and energy to filling these, and having been greatly favored by my friends and patrons. To be your doctor's best assistant has always been my aim."

MARRY IN HASTE; 30 MINISTERS TIE KNOT

Mrs. William B. Moyle.

In the rapid-fire marriage of William B. Moyle, former newspaper man from San Francisco, and Miss Emma Roblin, an attractive Sacramento girl, two new Pacific coast records were set. Not only did the ceremony occur within twenty-four hours after the couple met, but no less than thirty clergymen officiated. It was a case of love at first sight; and when the couple heard of a ministers' banquet they rushed there to get some one to tie the knot. The thirty ministers present together tied the matrimonial knot.

ALPHA CLUB ELECTS

The opening meeting of the Alpha club was held last evening at the home of the president, Miss Athertine Pope, 1529 George street. The principal part of the business meeting consisted in the election of officers for the ensuing year, which were: President, Athertine Pope; vice president, Ivah Kinney; secretary, Lois Hammersberg; treasurer, Eunice Freeman. After the business meeting a general social time was enjoyed by all and a delicious two course buffet luncheon was served at a late hour.

HONOR MISS HIXON

BUFFALO, N. Y., Oct. 25.—(Special.)—Miss Ellen Hixon of La Crosse, Wis., who is house guest in Buffalo to Mrs. Dudley Irwin and Miss Kathleen Penn-Gaskill Irwin, attended a reception this week at their home in Summer street. On Thursday evening Mrs. Irwin gave a dance in honor of her western guest, and for the debutantes and some of the younger set following the reception. Miss Hixon will also attend the ball to be given by Mrs. Irwin at the Twentieth Century club for her debutante daughter, Miss Kathleen Irwin, on November 22.

CHARITY BALL

Fourteenth of November is the date set for the annual charity ball given by the Woman's Auxiliary of the La Crosse hospital. Every one is to be on the move for the affair, as the time is short, and new costumes have to be invented and worked over. It is the intention to have this party eclipse all former ones.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

Miss Kathryn Krebs, 514 North Tenth street, entertained a few of her little friends Wednesday, the occasion being her seventh birthday. The afternoon was spent in playing games. She received many handsome gifts. A delicious luncheon was served at 5:30, after which the little folks departed for their homes. The guests were Gladys Ash, Marcella Miller, Anna Anderson, Helen Woelke, Ruth Faas, Katherine Krebs, Masters Gilbert Ash, George Krebs. The assisting ladies were Mrs. S. Bering, A. Drake, Evelyn Faas and Mrs. J. Krebs.

WOMAN'S CLUB PROGRAM

The La Crosse Woman's club was entertained Wednesday afternoon by Mrs. Bert Nelson, 1126 Rose street. The members responded to roll call with quotations on music and the program was as follows:

Biographical sketch of MacDowell, Mrs. Huecker; music from MacDowell, Lois Halik; the story of the opera "Thais" by Massenet, Mrs. Long; music, Meditation from "Thais," Glen Halik; talk on life of Edward Greig, Mrs. Schlabach; characterization of Grieg's compositions, with descriptions of three of his compositions, "Troll Dances," "Anitra's Dance" and "Dawn."

The paper was read by Mrs. Bert Nelson and after each description the composition described was played by Glen Halik, accompanied by Lois Halik.

This was followed by descriptions of three of Grieg's songs, "Solweig's Song," "Good Morning" and "Ich Liebe Dich," which were sung by Georgiana Young, accompanied by Mrs. Bert Nelson.

OREGON HEN SETS MARK FOR EGGS

CORVALLIS, Ore., Oct. 25.—With twenty days yet to go before completing her full year of laying, hen C521 at the Oregon Agricultural college laid her 285th egg. The previous world's record of 282 eggs for a full year was achieved only recently by another hen at the same college.

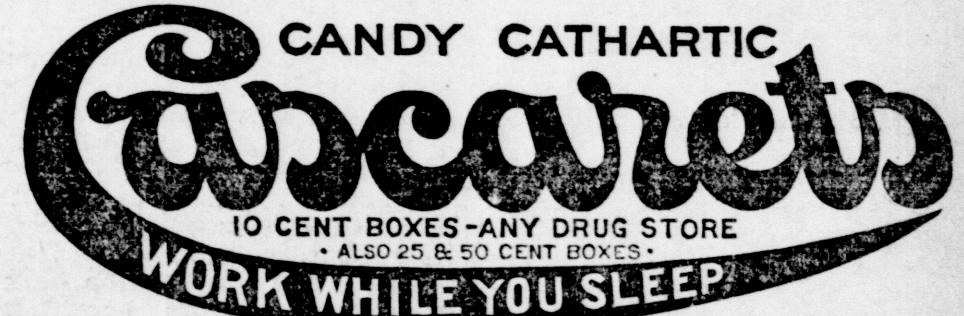

FOR CONSTIPATION, TORPID LIVER, HEADACHE, DYSPEPSIA—DIME A BOX

Turn the rascals out—the headache, biliousness, indigestion, constipation, the sick, sour stomach and foul gases—turn them out tonight with Cascarets.

Don't put in another day of distress. Let Cascarets cleanse and sweeten your stomach; remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and that misery-making gas.

take the excess bile from your liver and carry off the decomposed waste matter and constipation poison from the bowels.

A Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning—a 10 cent box keeps your head clear, stomach sweet, liver and bowels regular and you feel bully for months. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a good, gentle cleansing, too.

THE THOUSANDTH WOMAN

THIS is the story of one woman in a thousand and who never for a moment lost her splendid loyalty to her lover and her friend, though all the evidence in the world seemed dead against him.

It is one of the greatest mystery stories, because it is so much more—a story of character so strongly arousing the reader's sympathies that he hangs with breathless suspense upon the fate of the man and the woman whom he understands thoroughly and likes immensely.

The Thousandth Woman is tense, compact, full-blooded, strong in its love story.

CONUNDRUM: Suppose you were the handsomest, youngest major in the army, engaged to the primmest of Boston bluestocks—

Suppose you went for a visit and were brought face to face with three delightful, utterly charming girls whom you'd made love to—

Suppose the only girl you ever really loved had since succeeded to a title while you remained poor as a church-mouse—

What would you do?

Answer: Ring for Nancy!

A funny answer? Of course it's funny! It's a charming love story and a comedy-farce all at once!

Ring for Nancy is a modern SHE STOOPS TO CONQUER with the hero in on the joke.

GREATER NUMBER OF CORPORATIONS ARE NOT FAULTY SAYS SENATOR SHERMAN AT BANQUET

PEORIA, Ill., Oct. 25.—"All men are not good but the greater number are, and the same applies to corporations. All corporations are not good and yet the greater number are," said Senator L. Y. Sherman late last night at the banquet of the National Implement and Vehicle association.

"I have never had any fault to find with the greater number of corporations," continued Senator Sherman, "and I believe the work of the destructive critic should have some limitation. There should be some point at which the destructive critic should stop and the constructive critic replace him. Not that the destructive critic is useless, but when the evils aimed at are destroyed he should cease his activities and become a constructive factor in the upbuilding of the business interests of the country."

78 STRIKERS ARE JAILED IN MICHIGAN

CALUMET, Mich., Oct. 25.—Wholesale arrests in the copper strike territory continued today. Seventy-eight strikers were jailed before noon and charged with contempt of court. Militiamen who made the arrests asserted the prisoners violated the supreme court injunction against picketing. Most of the strikers were rounded up at Mohawk and Isle Royale.

Reports that several strikers were wounded, one fatally, last night, when incoming strikebreakers aboard a South Shore train fired upon several hundred miners, could not be verified today. The strikebreakers claimed today that union miners started the trouble by firing upon the train.

VERNON COUNTY WOMAN DIVORCED

Mrs. Mabel McKee, residing on a farm five miles from Viola, was this morning granted a divorce by Judge E. C. Higbee from Thomas McKee. D. A. R. IN THANKS FOR CO-OPERATION

Makes Public Formal Expression of Gratitude for Assistance During State Convention

The La Crosse chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution today made public a formal expression of thanks for the "kindly assistance and cordial co-operation" extended to them during the state convention of the D. A. R. The resolution is over the names of Mrs. George W. Burton, regent, and Mrs. B. C. Smith, secretary of the local chapter.

"The La Crosse chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution desires in behalf of its members to publicly express their appreciation of the kindly assistance and cordial co-operation extended to them during the recent state convention of the D. A. R. by various churches, clubs and individuals. Especial mention should be made of the artistic program given on Tuesday evening at the Congregational church by the members of the Music Study club to the Daughters of the American Revolution delegates and their friends. The audience was in a most receptive mood and warmly showed their appreciation.

"Schubert's 'Twenty-third Psalm' was a beautiful opening number splendidly given by Miss Oltman, Mrs. Faber, Mrs. Whelpley and Mrs. Watkins.

"The second number was Schubert's 'Unfinished Symphony,' rarely heard except when given by large orchestras. The piano arrangement, as skillfully interpreted by Mrs. Curtis and Mrs. Bunge, brought out the orchestral effect admirably.

"Following, Mrs. Whelpley then sang 'The Thornbush,' 'Eventide' and 'At Sea,' by Robert Franz. The first two were folk songs, both given in her artistic and musically style and the third, an art song, which showed the wealth of her dramatic interpretation.

"Waither's Prize Song, arranged for a violin, was played by Mrs. Cotton. She has the ability to always charm her audience by sweetness of tone and sympathetic playing.

"In the next number Mendelssohn's 'Autumn' and 'Cauld Blast' were sung by Miss Oltman and Mrs. Watkins. It was a delight to hear the unusual blending of two such voices, the clear liquid soprano and pure contralto in perfect unity of expression.

"The last number on the program consisted of two choruses by the Music club, Schubert's 'Night,' and 'Houri's Song' from 'Paradise Peri' by Schumann. While the club is not a choral organization, so many members have excellent voices that they devote part of each meeting to ensemble singing under the direction of Mrs. Whelpley. This made possible this enjoyable number which completed the program.

"Mrs. Bennett and Mrs. Curtis who played the accompaniments, deserve much praise for their sympathetic and responsive support to the soloists.

"MRS. GEO. W. BURTON, Regent.
"MRS. B. C. SMITH, Secy."

CHILDREN BURNED MOTHER WILL DIE

EAST CHICAGO, Ind., Oct. 25.—Two little children were burned to death, their mother sustained fatal injuries in attempting to save them, and several firemen were overcome by smoke in a fire caused by the explosion of an oil stove at the home of Joseph Sceda early today. The two children, Marie, aged 4, and Joseph, aged 6, were playing in the kitchen when the stove exploded and showered them with flaming oil.

MEETING SUCCESS AT BARRE MILLS

The town hall at Barre Mills was crowded last night at a meeting conducted by J. H. Carnahan, vice president and secretary of the American Society of Equity, to discuss the proposed $250,000 cooperative packing plant which the society is figuring upon locating in La Crosse. Another meeting will be held this evening in West Salem, and there will be a gathering next Wednesday in Galesville.

ATTORNEY SUICIDE

CHICAGO, Oct. 25.—The body of yachtsman, missing two days from yachtsman, missing two days from his home, was found in Lake Michigan at the foot of 66th street this morning. Ill health and despondency over the death of his partner, Geo. M. Eckles are believed to have caused his suicide.

DIES AT HOSPITAL

Frank Barker, age 62, died this morning at the La Crosse hospital, after an illness of eight days. Death resulted from an organic disease with which Mr. Barker has been troubled for some time. He has been employed by Dr. W. A. Rowles in doing odd jobs. He is survived by two brothers. The funeral announcements have not been made.

Miss Mate Collins and Mrs. Roman Stadler entertained Friday evening at a luncheon at the home of the latter, in honor of Miss Galda Wiggert, an October bride. Covers were laid for six.

JERSEY HAS THIRD HEAD

TRENTON, N. J., Oct. 25.—The third governor New Jersey has had during the present year and the youngest chief executive in the history of the state, Leon R. Taylor of Monmouth county, now speaker of the assembly, will succeed Acting Governor Fielder next week when the latter resigns office. Taylor is barely thirty years of age and follows both President Wilson and Fielder. Fielder resigns his office because the state constitution provides that no governor shall succeed himself.

Waifs Who Became Famous.

The list of waifs who have become famous is a long one. It includes Sir Henry Stanley, Queen Catherine the Good, Alexander Hamilton, Rosa Bonheur, Edgar Allen Poe, Rachel, Leonardo da Vinci and dates back as far as Moses. All these were homeless children—children who if left to their fate would undoubtedly have drifted into evil ways. Instead they have lived to add glory to their names and have contributed to the knowledge of the world at large through the fruits of their genius.

MRS. EATON ON STAND FOR SELF

Faces Final Ordeal Calmly Before a Crowded Courtroom Today

PLYMOUTH, Mass., Oct. 25.—Mrs. Jennie May Eaton faced the final ordeal of her trial for the murder of her husband, Rear Admiral Joseph G. Eaton today. Calm and resolute she entered the crowded courtroom prepared to take the stand and tell her own story.

The significance of much of the testimony of the prosecution appeared today when it was stated that insanity experts had been brought into the court room by District Attorney Barker and will watch the prisoner's every move.

The court was silenced and spectators craned their necks for a better view when Mrs. Eaton took the stand. Her first recollections were those of a small town in Michigan, where she attended school, and at the age of 17 married Daniel Henry Ainsworth.

Her two daughters were born in Michigan and they later removed to St. Louis to allow little Dorothy to be treated for her lameness. She told of the excessive drinking of her husband.

CONVICT BROTHER AT BEILIS' TRIAL

Relative of Vera Cheberyak Brought from Siberia to Testify in the Case

HE IS ACCUSED OF COMPLICITY

Alleged by Former Police Head that He Was Implicated in Murder

KIEFF, Oct. 25.—Rudinsky, convict brother of Vera Cheberyak, who was brought from Siberia to testify, was a witness today in the "ritual murder" trial, in which the Jew, Mendel Beilis, is charged with the murder of Andrew Yushinsky, a Christian boy. Rudinsky was accused by the former police head, Krassovsky, of being implicated in the murder and he was to be questioned on that line.

Two secret service officers testified in corroboration of Krassovsky, that he obtained statements from convicted counterfeiters that Rudinsky and Latiseff, another brother of the Cheberyak woman, admitted murdering Yushinsky. The officers swore that Krassovsky, disguised as a convict, mingled with counterfeiters in prison and obtained their statements.

Several depositions by Siberian prisoners were read into the record, corroborating Krassovsky.

TO CLOSE LOCKS ON NOVEMBER 15

Owing to the painting and repairing of the new lock at Keokuk, Iowa, steamboat navigation between the upper and lower Mississippi river will be closed November 15. This is the order of Major G. M. Hoffman, of the corps of engineers of the United States.

VETERAN INHERITS FORTUNE

TAYLORVILLE, Ill., Oct. 25.—Living in the National Military home at Marion, Ind., practically destitute, Henry M. Bowman will be notified today that he is heir to 1230 acres of rich Illinois land and enough personal property to make him worth a quarter of a million dollars. He has been identified as the long lost uncle of John A. Bowman who died in Stonington a few weeks ago.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Largely no doubt because of the extraordinary position in Mexico, the Stock exchange all but suspended operations this morning. Aspects of that complicated situation, which might otherwise cause a decidedly apprehensive movement in stock market values, were counter-balanced by cabled intimations that European governments were bestirring themselves with a view to harmonious action with the United States. Trading in stocks was extremely small, and changes in prices—though sometimes fractionally downward—were negligible.

The weekly showing of American bank clearings marked a moderate decline from 1912, when, however, October closed with great commercial activity. Week end mercantile trade reviews continued to report a good volume of business and evidence that supplies were not accumulating in retailers' hands.

BODY GIVES MYSTERY
BEAUTIFUL WOMAN FOUND FLOATING IN CHICAGO RIVER MAY BE VICTIM OF MURDER

CHICAGO, Oct. 25.—The finding of the body of a beautiful woman, unidentified, and about thirty years of age, floating in the Chicago river at Monroe street, gave the police a new mystery. Patrolman John Cronin saw the body and dragged it to the river bank. In a hasty examination or possible wounds, a handful of duckshot was found inside the underwear and next to the skin. The skin, however, was not bruised and the police are unable to account for the presence of the shot. Coroner Hoffman ordered a post mortem to determine whether the woman drowned or was assaulted and then thrown into the river.

CATARRH

We are all familiar with our old friend, a cold in the head that comes from anywhere and develops into a chest trouble with an attendant cough, unless properly taken care of promptly. A few of us in this climate are fortunate enough to escape the aggravating hawking, spitting, dropping in the throat, difficult breathing, foul taste in the mouth, stuffy feeling in the head or full feeling in the throat, according to the severity of the case; but how many of us realize that the "chronic cold" is catarrh and even if we do name the disease, how often do any of us go about a cure for it in the right way?

It is now conceded that catarrh finds its origin in the blood and the cause, therefore, must be removed before the local symptoms will disappear. The persons who are constantly having colds and occasionally let them run into more serious diseases, the acute forms of which are curable in a short time but leave a weakness that makes one susceptible to other things later on, should make an effort to get the kind of treatment that will STRIKE at the ROOT of the trouble—that is, take medical treatment that will drive out the taint that causes the mucous membranes to be attacked and then they will make some headway toward cure.

Dr. Turbin is in town once a month and from the remarkable cures he has been able to bring about, there is no question but what he is qualified to treat and cure catarrh. Prevent the development of lung trouble, catarrh of the stomach, bronchitis and numerous other maladies by attending to that case of catarrh at once.

Short Story

KEEP HIM GUESSING

By LOUISE OLNEY
(Copyright, 1913, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Margaret came down to breakfast a little late and in the shrinking way now habitual to her. Her mother eyed her appraisingly, as if counting up her charms.

"My dear, positively you blush now if even I look at you. Do try to be more poised! It's your second season, but you act like a novice!" Margaret ate grape-fruit and said nothing. Her only hope—a vain one—was that John Norman's name would not be named. Her mother was merciless, however. She had married off three daughters already, but this fourth one she could not understand. "At dinner last night you were like a mouse, and just drank in John Norman's words—while Effie Deane kept his eyes on her across the table—she snatched his interest away right under your eyes, and you let her! Any clever girl would have stopped her in three minutes. Of course she knows he's worth her best efforts." She passed Don, the son, a cup of coffee.

"I didn't want to stop her," said Margaret. Her mother stared. Margaret seldom answered. "I am not trying to interest him. If Effie wants him and can get him—well, you don't understand me. I am not trying to marry myself off—and I won't help you do it. I'll go to work—in Lowrie's office—if you keep throwing me at men's heads."

Mrs. Fremont gasped and Don stared—and then chuckled.

"Good for little Margie! Something new! The mouse can squeak when it gets in a tight place! Never mind, sis; you shan't be married off! Just because a fellow is rich and popular is no reason why you should want to marry him. But if you do like him, mummy is right about one thing—don't be so passive—keep him guessing. Men like him are used to thinking every girl is dead crazy about them."

Margaret could endure no more. She rose and marched out of the room, her dark eyes full of tears. In the hall she snatched a white sweater and a little cap and escaped by the side door, her slim figure tense and her head high.

It was the first of October and the leaves were yellowing, the hills were blue with mist, and on the horizon, early as it was, enterprising men and girls were already beginning to golf. She started for a walk, aiming for a lonely path that would lead into the bigger patch of woods. She wanted to lose herself. But again hope cheated her, for as she turned a corner Hal Kerston appeared. His boyish blond face lighted with pleasure.

"Oh, joy; oh, joy!" she chattered, cap in hand. "Here she is and without that everlasting Norman man at her heels! Here she is in her right mind, with a smile for an old friend! Can I go too, Margie? Say yes! It you say yes, then I'll let you say when, too. When you are tired of men I will light out if you'll give the word; but let me come, too. Going to walk?"

"Yes, come along," she said with a smile at him. "I always like to walk with you." The two went along, kicking the leaves, the boy laughing, but his eyes serious. The great trees whispered in the morning wind. Margaret forgot her woes and was momentarily happy, but she wondered what made Hal seem such a child to her. Then he, like Brutus, suddenly stabbed her with a question.

"I hear you're to be married." His voice was hurt. "You know how I always wanted you. But if Norman's going to make you happy—he's a prince all right, all right. I'll try to be decent about it, you know."

She cut him short angrily, tears close to falling, her small fists clenched at her side. Neither of them saw a tall, quiet man coming toward them.

"You, too!" she wailed to Hal, her clear voice quite distinct. "I'm to hear nothing but John Norman—breakfast, dinner, supper, from my own folks—and my friends—even you! I thought you'd have more sense! When I'm going to be married I'll announce my engagement properly. I'm not going to marry Mr. Norman, despite the world's match-making. In the first place, he hasn't asked me. No man with any self-respect would ask me after the way my mother and sister have thrown me at his head!" She blinked back the tears, and Hal reached for her hand, which she snatched back. The big man, blue-eyed, dark-haired, and with a serious face, stood shamelessly listening. Margaret went on.

"In the second place, I don't like a man who must know what's going on—and still keeps up their hopes by hanging around me enough to embarrass me. It's mean and base for me to say this—but he won't take a hint. I hardly speak to him. And then mother scolds me—she says I have no spirit. I've too much to be made merchandise of. I won't be pretty for him."

"You can't help being pretty for the world," said Hal. "Look here—you marry me, Margie. You've always known me. Come on! We can have it over in an hour. Couldn't you—love me? Couldn't you?" Margaret put her arms up against a tree and put her curly dark head against them and began to cry, but in a moment she turned on Hal who was comforting her vainly—she

No Other "Six" in the World Near This Price

The new Studebaker "SIX" stands absolutely alone and apart in the entire field of six-cylinder cars.

At its price of $1575—less by hundreds than the price of any other "Six"—it brings you vastly more than the operative advantages of the "Six."

It brings you these advantages—emphasized and enhanced because this "SIX" is not only a manufactured "SIX," but a "Studebaker manufactured "SIX."

Carries Seven in Comfort

It brings you passenger capacity for seven. It brings you the manifold advantages of electric lighting and starting through a two-unit system that has proved itself on thousands of Studebaker cars.

You have never before been able to buy such a car at $1575.

Today you cannot find such another car, at this price, in the entire world.

Six Thousand Manufacturing Operations

How completely the Studebaker "SIX" is the product of the great Studebaker plants you will realize when you know that its construction requires more than 6,000 manufacturing operations.

We build its motor, from the raw iron and steel, down through the numerous processes of casting, machining, grinding and assembling to the finished product.

We build its full-floating rear axle; stamp the light though tremendously strong housing from the sheet steel; we forge, cut and machine the axle and transmission gears.

Throughout the rear axle and transmission and in the front wheels we use 13 Timken roller bearings for quiet, easy running.

Economical of Fuel and Tires

In fuel consumption we believe the "SIX" will match, if not surpass, the economy of any car of equal horsepower. Its motor size is 3 1/2 x 5 inches.

It is economical because, in spite of its 121-inch wheelbase it is light, and easy on its 34x4 inch tires; yet it is wonderfully strong.

It is generously roomy and richly upholstered, and carries its seven passengers in utmost comfort.

In design and line, the "SIX" acknowledges no greater beauty and grace.

Separate Electrical Units

The starting and lighting system is the Wagner two-unit, starting motor and generator separate.

Lamps are Gray & Davis' highest quality, parabolic type.

In short, the "SIX" lacks nothing in style, beauty or comfort.

$1050

This "FOUR" the Final Word Among Four-Cylinder Cars

This Studebaker "FOUR" has been developed from our experience in building 110,000 "FOURS."

Its price, $1050, represents the outside limit you should pay for a "Four," because no "Four" can give you more, in actual value or performance, than this one does.

So its price is right. Its capacity is right. Its power is right. It is the right type—the last word among four-cylinder cars.

A Powerful Long-Stroke Motor

Nothing that we can say here will give you an adequate idea of the power possibilities of this car—or of the things of which it is actually capable.

The motor presents the latest approved engineering practice—cylinders cast en bloc, valves enclosed, exhaust and intake manifolds integral.

The intake is very short and direct, placing the carburetor in a most advantageous position.

In fuel, both oil and gasoline, it will give long mileage.

Thirteen Timken bearings reduce friction and wear to the minimum at every point in the transmission and rear axle and in front wheel hubs.

A Car Pleasing to the Eye

The "FOUR" presents the beautiful continuous stream-line effects, with hood sloped upward to a deep cowl.

Running boards are clean and free, with wour plates of aluminum.

The gasoline supply is under the cowl, giving a short, direct gravity feed to the carburetor.

Its rear axle is of the full-floating type, and completely accessible.

The rear springs are full-elliptic, very long and easy, and with the lower member suspended beneath the axle.

Electric Lighting and Starting

It has left hand steering and center control.

The electrical starting and lighting equipment is the Wagner two-unit system—two units for greater efficiency and greater dependability.

Headlights are Gray & Davis' best quality parabolic lamps.

The windshield is of new design, ventilating, clear vision and rain vision.

Most Modern and Complete Equipment

Rims are detachable demountable, with one extra rim and tire carriers at the rear.

Studebaker-Jiffy curtains are always ready for quick lowering from within the car.

The dash equipment includes illuminated speedometer, oil feed and electric current indicator.

Electric horn, robe rail, tools and tool box are also furnished with the four.

The car can now be seen at the Studebaker store, and a demonstration arranged.

turned like a little fury.

"You go away this moment! Don't wait to talk—just go!" She hid her face again. Hal, surprised and hurt, marched straight off ahead of him, still unaware of the big man in the gray suit who stood very near.

Margaret cried a moment, and then began to wipe her eyes.

"Every single man in the world either wants to marry or not to marry!" she said aloud. "Why can't they?" A rustle made her turn silent in terror.

"Mr. Norman!" She was very white and limp and leaned against the tree. He took off his hat, his fine strong face serious.

"I—I listened," he said. "It was—bestly of me—but I needed to know the truth. It was very plain truth—Margaret." She stood with eyes downcast playing with her crimson cap, her fingers trembling, tears falling on her cheeks. She choked.

"I think men are not as vain as you think them. I did not know—your family was annoying you—about me. It is due myself to say that I have also been perfectly honest. I have stayed about you because—I have learned to love you—I wanted to win you. I wanted you—to marry me. But not unless I could—unless you could truly—love me. I suppose that now this is my dismissal? Don't you think that if we had been left to ourselves without others meddling that you might have liked me better?"

Still she was very pale, but she looked up and met his glance bravely. "I—did—like you—at first—but—"

"It is not my fault that meddlers—"

"No, it isn't your fault, of course. I'm sorry I spoke so to Hal. I was very angry. But I'm glad you heard me. I—"

"Something tremulous and sweet dawning in her face waked hope in him. He came and very gently took one of her hands.

"Margaret, you don't want that boy, Hal?"

For a wretched moment she did not speak. Then she shook her head vehemently.

"Of course not," John Norman took her other hand.

"Margaret, can't you learn to care for me?" The shrinking left her, and she met his glance quietly. "Can you, Margaret? Are things to be spoiled for us by these people who don't understand?"

She let him draw her toward him. "It wouldn't be fair, Margaret. Would it?" With a quick little movement she hid her face against his sleeve and stood limp and passive in his arms.

"Dearest; dearest!" His voice was low and poignant with joy and triumph. "You do love me!" She nodded her head against his arm.

"It hurts to care so much," she murmured.

Musical.

It was at a musicale given in an old fashioned country house, and the soprano was screeching her loudest.

"The room is cold," complained one of the guests, "and I would like to stir the fire in the grate, but I don't know how to do it without interrupting the music."

"That's easy," suggested his companion; "stir it between the bars."

Most girls would rather pound a piano in the parlor than pound a beefsteak in the kitchen.

ARREST 200 STRIKERS
MINERS TAKEN UP CHARGED WITH CONTEMPT AND VIOLATION OF SUPREME COURT INJUNCTION

CALUMET, Mich., Oct. 25.—More than 200 arrests were made throughout the copper country of striking miners charged with contempt of court and violation of the Supreme court injunction against picketing. Those arrested were imprisoned in the county jail at Houghton without hearing.

The wholesale arrests resulted from an order issued by Circuit Judge O'Brien instructing the sheriffs of Houghton and Keweenaw counties to employ whatever means might be necessary to prevent further violations of the injunction.

POEMS

You Ought To Know

SOLILLOQUY FROM HAMLET

(By William Shakespeare.)

To be, or not to be: that is the question;
Whether 'tis nobler in the mind to suffer
The slings and arrows of outrageous fortune,
Or to take arms against a sea of troubles,
And by opposing end them? To die: to sleep;
No more; and by a sleep to say we end
The heart-ache and the thousand natural shocks
That flesh is heir to: 'tis a consummation
Devoutly to be wished. To die: to sleep;
To sleep: perchance to dream; aye, there's the rub;
For in that sleep of death what dreams may come,
When we have shuffled off this mortal coil,
Must give us pause: there's the respect
That makes calamity of so long life;
For who would bear the whips and scorns of time,
The oppressor's wrong, the proud man's contumely,
The pangs of despised love, the law's delay,
The insolence of office, and the spurns
That patient merit of the unworthy takes,
When he himself might his quietus make
With a bare bodkin? Who would fardels bear,
To grunt and sweat under a weary life,
But that the dread of something after death—
The undiscovered country from whose bourne
No traveler returns—puzzles the will
And makes us rather bear those ills we have Than fly to others that we know not of?
Thus conscience does make cowards of us all,
And thus the native hue of resolution
Is sicklied o'er with the pale cast of thought,
And enterprises of great pith and moment
With this regard their currents turn awry
And lose the name of action.

IDENTIFIES SUSPECTS

CHICAGO, Oct. 25.—Chief of Police Joseph Smith of Grand Rapids, Mich., today identified Roy Blackburn, George Franklin and James Mills, the trio arrested here Wednesday night, as the trio he wants in connection with the three men and robbery of a jewelry store in Grand Rapids.

CALL MANN ACT FOOLISH

NEW ORLEANS, La., Oct. 25.—The Mississippi Valley Medical association in session here will adopt a resolution asking an amendment to the federal white slave law so that it will apply to "commercialized vice" only. Physicians declare the law as it is, "unjust and foolish."

It's the better half that generally sees the worst side of a man.

MURPHY SMILES AT RUMOR

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—"I have not the slightest intention of indicting Mr. Sulzer, or having him indicted," said Chief Murphy, of Tammany hall, today. Murphy smiled broadly as he gave out the information. He had been informed that Sulzer in statements challenged the chief to indict him, as it had been reported the Tammany leaders thought of doing.

Smart Boy

For four consecutive nights the hotel proprietor watched his fair, timid guest fill her pitcher at the water tap.

"Madam," he said on the fifth night, "if you would ring, this would be done for you."

Our Vernacular

A foreigner, meeting an American friend, said to him, "How are you?" The latter replied, "Out of sight."

The man considered this very clever, and decided to use the expression on the next occasion. Shortly after he was met by a friend, who asked, "How are you?" With visible pride he answered, "You don't see me."

A Hilarious Time Assured

Jimmy—We're going to have an awful gay time at our party next week.

Johnny—How d'ye know?

In commemoration of this silver anniversary special celebration is to take place at the church, corner Avon and St. Paul streets, next Sunday, October 19. The Rev. Stromer of Marinette, founder and first pastor of the congregation, will occupy the pulpit in the forenoon, the Rev. A. Vollbrecht of Fountain City in the afternoon. The evening service at 8 o'clock will be conducted in English, the Rev. Julius T. Gamm of West Avenue church officiating.

CHURCH NEWS

Episcopal Church Re-arranges Dioceses

The Episcopal church has decided to group its dioceses into what it calls provinces, and to provide each province with a legislative body to be known as a synod. The aims are to give larger measure of local government, to avoid long travel by members of governing bodies, and relieve the church's general convention, meeting every three years, which has become too large and too congested with matters that can be locally decided. The provinces have been so grouped that large cities are capitals, and some of them may in time come to have archbishops instead of mere bishops, after the pattern of Roman Catholic church.

The principal cities in line for these archbishops, if ever they come, and for the present expected to give the largest support to respective provinces, are Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Cincinnati, Chicago, St. Louis, Minneapolis, New Orleans, Seattle and San Francisco. The provinces are eight in all, and the outlying missionary districts, like Honolulu, Cuba and Porto Rico, are attached to different provinces.

Pope Watching The Philippines

Pope Plus, even when not well, keeps informed at all times about Catholic church affairs in the Philippines, and the action of our government in political and educational affairs affecting the islands. The Catholic congregation of the Propaganda has just decided to send from Rome ten additional missionaries to Manila. The congregation receives reports encouraging it concerning the prospects of the church there under American bishops, and to some extent American priests. Mgr. Petrelli, the pope's representative, was warmly received a short time ago when he went to the new diocese of Lipa, accompanied by the archbishop of Manila, and he assured the pope in turn that old bitterness against the friars has wholly disappeared from the islands.

Germans are coming to the help of Italians in supplying missionaries for the Philippines, and they and Americans are wholly supplanting the old Spanish regime, even to the smallest mission.

IN THE WORLD OF WOMEN

A "Whatwearer" company has been organized in New York by women who believe that they are better able to judge what women need than men, and that they can conduct a mercantile business as well as their husbands or brothers.

Miss Alice Neville, of Worthing, England, is conducting a public garage. She personally oversees the work, even to making repairs to automobiles placed in her charge.

The anti-tuberculosis committee of the New York State Grange has decided to extend to rural New York the employment of social service nurses. The State Charities Aid association will provide some of the nurses in return for efforts on the part of the various granges to sell Red Cross Christmas stamps.

Cornell University is arranging a vocational training course for girl students.

Waitresses of Wellington, New Zealand, recently formed a union and presented grievances to the arbitration court, with the result that they were awarded an advance in wages.

A firm of women lawyers has been organized in Chicago, which is said to be the first in the city, under the name of Kelley, Sellers & Clark.

The Wisconsin Woman Suffrage association has issued a book entitled "Social Forces" as an instrument to educate and prepare women for citizenship.

FASHIONS DISTINCTLY MORE FEMININE

New York, Oct. 25.

Undoubtedly fashions are becoming more feminine. Notwithstanding all reports to the contrary, the figure is more extensively draped this fall than for several years past. Once more womanhood may be clothed in mystery and romance—a relief from the all-revealing modes which left nothing to the imagination.

Yards and yards of swathing draperies, held in place by sashes, girldes and pendant cordeliers, is the impression conveyed not alone by gowns, but by many of the suits as well. Separate coats seem to grow more and more voluminous, especially when intended for dressy wear. The waistcoat idea shows no evi-has always a tendency to give a more or less incomplete appearance to the round necked gown.

Uprighting frills of some sort finish the majority of gowns. In our first figure we show the frill used on an extremely fetching vest-waist of black and white velvet brocade. It is built above a gracefully draped skirt of black chiffon velvet, and completes an effective costume for the afternoon visit or matinee. The hat is a little, inverted, bowl shaped affair of black velvet, wreathed with vari-colored silk flowers, and edged with a frill of accordion pleated silk. A black velvet bridle is drawn under the chin.

One sees many of these clever little vest-waists of brocade satin or velvet, and there is about them an air of "chic" which makes a quick and lasting appeal.

Another very extensive use of the gorgeous brocades is found in the lining of coats and mantles. No pattern seems to be too bold or bizarre for this purpose and no color too vivid. Black and white, however, is a favored and very effective lining, and usually takes the form of striking black figures on a white ground. The richness, and incidentally the costliness of fur garments is considerably enhanced by this extravagance of lining.

Furs continue to be appropriated for every possible and impossible purpose. An interesting use of furs is indicated in our second illustration, which shows a waistcoat and collar of gray squirrel ornamenting a suit of diagonal worsted in gray, black and lavender. A fetching little hat, brimless in front and with back brim rolled up, repeats the gray fur, and displays over one ear a large silk rose of lovely orange yellow tone. The long velvet scarf is also edged with fur.

The suit jacket is built upon cut-away tunic lines, to which fashion remains faithful despite the bewildering array of new methods brought out this fall. A little tab buttoning across the waistcoat is a smart detail.

The skirt shows the caught up front drape, which is exceedingly graceful developed in the soft weave worsted.

Though fancy fabrics are now and then used, the majority of suits are in plain colored material. Of dark blue one sees a great deal, and of Russian green also. Yellowish red shades, ranging through all the copper and nasturtium tonalities, are conspicuous in every assemblage of well dressed women. Black is indence of waning popularity. We have waistcoats in everything—jackets, cloaks, and even negligees show them in the most gorgeous fabrics and colorings. In a loosely-draped evening wrap of leather-colored velvet we noted the other day a waistcoat of duvetyne of the same shade, outlined with a band of orange colored fur. At the neck hung pendant a heavy ornament of orange, black and gold beads. Heavy beaded ornaments have become a very pronounced style feature. They decorate everything from delicate chiffon waists to fur wraps and, in their barbaric richness, contribute a needed note of color to many of the simple garments.

Heavy necklaces of beads, graduating in diameter from about a fourth to five-eighths of an inch, are being worn by fashionable women with morning and afternoon toilettes. The beads are opaque, and show the deep purple, blue, orange and green shades of the latest dress fabrics and silks. To very dashing types, these necklaces are not unbecoming, but the pale blonde or delicately featured brunette had best shun them.

An extreme novelty in neck ruffs was introduced by one of the exclusive shops last week. The ruffs had an upstanding frill of black maline about three and a half inches high. Below, a frill of vivid green, cerise or purple maline, ranging from about six to eight inches in depth, fell over shoulders and chest. Drawn close about the neck was a band of fur or a twist of ribbon, ending under the chin in a long beaded cord and heavy beaded tassel which hung below the waistline. Square meshed maline was used for the frills, and the colors were in tinsel finish. Odd and bizarre though they were, they served to emphasize the vogue of the ruff, which in more conservative form finishes many of the toilettes of the day.

A most becoming method of dressing the neck—and one which, we believe, is destined for popularity, was seen at a recent fashion exhibition. Afternoon gowns which had a round neck finish showed posed at the center back an indefinite butterfly effect in lace or tulle. This dainty fluff of fineness was attached to the neckbands in several places. It never extended farther than the shoulder line, but served to fill in the gap just below the coiffure, which roduced into practically all smart toilettes. Usually it appears in the hat, which, in the preponderance of cases, is of black velvet. The velvet bridle has been very quickly accepted. Young girls have noticed it up enthusiastically, and we noticed it at a smart restaurant recently a lady wearing, but unmistakably elderly lady wearing a hat which exhibited this novel feature. Vastly becoming it was, attached to small black velvet hat with turned down brim. The costume which went with it was of lustrous black satin draped with Venetian lace, and she wore the daintiest of black satin slippers, repeating the lace in tiny rosettes.

Before marriage a young man imagines two can live as cheaply as one; after marriage he ties a tin can to his imagination.

Foreign Markets
New York Stocks
NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—The stock market opened dull.
11 a. m.—Towards the end of the first hour the market sagged off more on account of neglect than of pressure of stocks. Dealings were very small. Traders said that if any considerable amount of stock had been thrown upon the market the prices would have declined sharply.
The stock market closed steady.

GRIDIRON GOSSIP

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Seating arrangements have been made at the Polo grounds to care for a crowd of 41,500 persons for the Army-Navy football game November 29. Seats will be sold at $3 each and the boxes $100. The Army and Navy will receive $35,000 of the seats. Additional special orders are expected and the chances are that not more than 6,000 seats will be put up for public sale.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Oct. 25.—College spirit ran riot in this city today for the annual football game between Indiana and Illinois universities. There was a big parade when 1,500 rooters from Bloomington arrived with their band and football squad. This line returned to the railroad station to welcome the 500 rooters who came from Champaign, Ill., with their team and band, and then there was a second parade. Thousands of "old grads" from both universities were here for the game. Governor Dunne and family came with the Illinois rooters.

Both teams were in great shape for the battle. The captains and coaches of both elevens expressed confidence in the outcome.

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Oct. 25.—Governor Edward F. Dunne, his wife and daughter were the rallying point of 583 Illinois rooters who left here at 7:30 this morning for Indianapolis, via the Big Four and a special train. The two governors will sit side by side this afternoon and root for their favorites. Governor and Mrs. Dunne are keen football fans.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—The Dartmouth-Princeton and the Carlisle-Pennsylvania football games today held the center of the stage in the east. This is the first real test for Princeton, the Indians and Pennsylvania. Yale has not been able to show her full strength on the field yet this season, owing to injuries. The rule holds true today and the Blue will meet Washington and Jefferson with Pendleton and Marting out of the lineup. Yale's goal line has not been crossed yet this year but W. and J. backers are betting freely that their favorites will score today. This game may be one of the hardest fought of the day.

Harvard will meet Penn State at Cambridge.

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 25.—The Gopher football squad was confident today of defeating North Dakota in the last game before the big clash at Madison next Saturday. An early morning rain and heavy clouds threatened to cause discomfort to the fans but the field was well covered and promised to be dry and fast.

The only way you can dampen many a fellow's spirits is by adding water to his whisky. And many a man's conservation is due to the fact that he hasn't the money.

SPORTS

PURDUE CONFIDENT BEFORE THE GAME

Maroons Are Slight Favorites Despite Boilermakers' Showing Against Wisconsin

CHICAGO, Oct. 25.—Hurling a defiant "bully for old Purdue" at the Maroon stands, 2,000 Purdue rooters invaded Stagg's domain today, confident that the Lafayette eleven will climax a season of early successes with a victory in the most important engagement thus far in the western conference battle.

Despite Purdue's showing against Wisconsin last Saturday, the Maroons were slight favorites. Stagg drilled his men all week in a defense guaranteed to stop the dashing Oliphant, and the full strength of his lineup faced the Boilermakers. It was realized that the team that "got the breaks" probably would win.

The other important engagements in the middle west today were the Wisconsin-Michigan Aggies clash at Madison and the annual battle between Illinois and Indiana at Indianapolis. The Badgers were touted to win over the Aggies, who defeated Michigan university last week, but the result of the Illinois-Indiana fight was in doubt. Neither game had any important bearing upon the title fight in the west.

Northwestern was held to have only a fighting chance to win its game with Iowa, the Hawkeyes having shown strength against Chicago last Saturday. Minnesota's clash with North Dakota was regarded only as final practice before the Wisconsin game next week.

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 25.—There will be no post season football game between the east and the west for the national title if Wisconsin captures the western championship again this year. Dr. George W. Ehler, director of athletics at the Badger institution, said today. Ehler said he saw nothing for a western eleven to win by such an engagement.

OFFICIALS DISLIKE KIRBY'S SCHEME

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Secretary James E. Sullivan of the Amateur Athletic union, and other officials of that organization, including Supreme Court Justice Barlow S. Weeks and Frederick W. Rubien of the Metropolitan association, refuse to consider seriously the proposition made by their president, Gustavus T. Kirby, that amateurs be allowed to compete against professionals in track and field sports.

Pointing to the fact that the ancient Olympic games were killed by professionalism, and that modern professional field and track sports had lost prestige through betting and kindred evils, Sullivan said flatly that he would never give his consent to the plan. He further stated that he would sever connection with the A. A. U. if the scheme should be attempted.

RIPON DEFEATS NORTHWESTERN

RIPON, Wis., Oct. 25.—Ripon college annexed the scalp of Northwestern of Watertown on Friday in easy fashion, 31 to 3.

The game was ragged in spots, both teams fumbling repeatedly. Northwestern scored first, Kehrberg booting the pigskin over for their only score in the second period after and from then on the outcome was obvious.

COFFEYVILLE, Kan., Oct. 25.—Walter Johnson of the Washington Americans, returned to his home here today, bringing with him a big loving cup presented by several hundred fans at Humboldt, Kan. PARADE TO ROUSE INTEREST IN GAME

Despite Circulation of Unfounded Rumor that Eau Claire Has Cancelled Rooters Whoop 'er Up

A high pitch of enthusiasm last night marked the advent of upward of 200 high school rooters who paraded the downtown streets rousing interest in the big game with Eau Claire today. Despite the circulation of a rumor that Eau Claire had cancelled the game, the rooters wore their lungs hoarse with raucous cheers and songs.

The Eau Claire game was reported to have been cancelled early in the afternoon, following the news that eight of the upstate team's star men had been forced out of the lineup by ineligibility. Eau Claire came today, however, minus her down-in-studies stars, but with a full team, even though many of them were not first string choices.

This afternoon's game has much to do with the high school football championship of the state. Only a few teams are left in the running for the interscholastic title, following a recent crop of defeats.

Madison has been defeated by West Division. Milwaukee lost to Tomah and Tomah has been defeated by Sparta.

Oshkosh is not yet out of the running, playing to a tie with Sparta a week ago, though the Oshkosh eleven was fortunate in not being beaten, and was clearly outplayed. Sparta will probably play Oshkosh again on November 15, when the latter team has issued a challenge.

Eau Claire, Chippewa Falls and La Crosse are possibilities now in the race. Last year La Crosse won from Eau Claire, 6 to 0. This year Eau Claire comes down greatly weakened, eight of her stars having been dropped from the list for scholastic reasons during the last week.

For several years the field each year has narrowed down to Oshkosh and Eau Claire, and it was the expectation that this would happen this year, when the game for the two teams was arranged for November 22. The Oshkosh-Sparta tie has complicated matters somewhat, but it seems to be the intention of the Eau Claire and Oshkosh schools, provided they win all intervening games, and Sparta refuses to play off the tie with Oshkosh, to claim that their November 22 game is for the state title, and to ignore the Sparta team.
